THE MISSISSIPPI.

THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER SURVEY ACT REPEALED.

Senator Vance reads Letters from Colored Men in North Carolina Stating no Intimidation.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—SENATE.—Senator Vest asked unanimous consent (out of the morning hour) to call up the concurrent resolution submitted by him yesterday declaring that remonetization of silver to its full restoration as money metal and its free coinage are demanded alike by the dictates of justice and wise statesmanship. Mr. Chandler objected and the resolution went over. Senator Ferry introduced a bill to amend the act providing for the appointment of the Mississippi River Improvement Commission; referred. Senator Beck, from the Finance Committee, reported favorably on the joint resolution providing for a committee to investigate the best means of guarding and collecting the public revenue, and to ascertain whether any change is necessary in the present method of making appointments. The resolution was then passed. It provides that the committee shall consist of three members from each house, instead of five Senators and seven Representatives, as required by Senator Beck's original resolution. Senator Ransom, from the Committee on Commerce, reported favorably on the House joint resolution authorizing the survey of the Mississippi river, near Concordia and Cowpen Bend, and it was passed. The Senate then took up the unfinished business of yesterday, Senator Windom resuming his speech in defense of the record of the Republican party. He referred at length to the colored exodus. He said he had encouraged it and gloried in it. Senator Vance read letters from colored men in North Carolina to show that there never had been any intimidation of colored voters in that State. Senator Davis (West Va.) read statistics in contravention of those stated by Senator Windom, and said the latter's figures were deceptive. The Senate then went into executive session, and when the doors were reopened the presiding officer laid before it the judicial expenses bill which was passed by the House to-day, and it was read the first and second time and referred to the Appropriation Committee. The Senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.—A proposition for revoking leaves of absence granted to members and requiring all absentees to report for duty immediately was made by Mr. Armfield (N. C.), but was objected to. The bill making appropriations for certain judicial expenses, and the bill making appropriations to pay the fees of marshals and their general deputies were reported from the Committee on Appropriations, ordered to be printed and referred to the Committee of the Whole. The bill prohibiting political assessments then came up as the business of the morning hour. Mr. Garfield sought the opportunity of speaking against the bill, but was cut off by the previous question, and the Republicans again resorted to dilatory tactics.

Mr. Atkins (Tenn.), chairman of appropriations committee, reported the Judicial expenses bill agreed upon in the Democratic caucus yesterday, and Mr. Cobb (Ind), from the same committee, reported a bill for marshal's fees. Printed and referred to Committee of the Whole. The House then resumed consideration of the bill prohibiting political assessments. Mr. Garfield desired to speak then, but was not permitted; whereupon the Republicans filibustered until the expiration of the morning hour. Mr. Cox submitted the conference report on the letter carriers' bill, and after a short discussion it was adopted. The bill as agreed to appropriates $415,000 for payment of letter carriers during the ensuing fiscal year and $41,000 for increased salaries of letter carriers during the present fiscal year.

Mr. Gibson (La.) introduced a bill amending the Mississippi River Improvement Commission act. Referred. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the judicial expenses bill, Mr. Blackburn (Ky.) in the chair. Mr Weaver offered an amendment providing that commissioner of jurors mentioned therein shall be appointed from the principal political party in the district in which court is held opposed to that to which the clerk of the court belongs. Adopted. Many other amendments were proposed but all rejected. The committee then rose and the bill was reported to House and passed. Yeas, 99; nays; 67. All the Greenbackers present except Forsyth voted in the affirmative. Adjourned.

The Egyptian Crisis.

LONDON, June 26.—A Reuter Cairo dispatch says: "According to authentic information received from Constantinople the Sultan has signed the firman deposing the Khedive in favor of his son Prince Mahomed Tewefek.

In the House of Lords to-day the Marquis of Saulsbury confirmed the report that the Sultan had ordered the Khedive to abdicate, and that the latter had acquiesced. Lord Saulsbury stated further that Prince Tewfik had been installed as the Khedive of Egypt.

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegraph Company says Prince Tewfik will publish a proclamation to-night announcing his accession to the Vice Royalty of Egypt. It is believed that Ismael, the ex-Khedive, will quit Egypt next Monday.

More Shooting.

ATLANTA, June 26.—A special dispatch to the Constitution states that Jim Burton shot and killed his brother-in-law, J. T. Ricks; both are farmers in Merriwether county. The trouble grew out of the settlement of an estate. Ricks heard that Burton had spoken offensively of his family and sought redress. Both parties met in the road, and Ricks demanded a retraction of Burton, who was armed with a shot gun and discharged it at Ricks, who expired instantly. Burton is at large, and claims to have acted in self defense.

The Bonapartist Succession.

PARIS, June 26.—The Ordre, Rouher's own organ, reproduces and consequently authenticates an account of an interview in which Rouher's replying to the question as to who would take the place of the deceased Prince Imperial, said Prince Jerome will, if he accepts that serious responsibility.

The Fourth of July Orator.

Springfield Republican.

At this late day, when people had begun to doubt whether any gentleman could be induced to furnish the eloquence for our Fourth of July celebration, the orator has been secured. He is not an ex-rebel, but an ex-carpet-bagger. Ex-Governor Daniel H. Chamberlain of South Carolina is the choice of the member of the committee who has been delegated to secure the speaker. The action of the Springfield committee-man has the beauty of thorough consistency. He has done the most stalwart thing possible. Here is a man pitted straight over against Wade Hampton and the rebel brigadiers, a wanderer from South Carolina, victim of the State rights doctrine upon which the alleged new rebellion is to be based. Whether the people of this region, who have given plain and reiterated expression of their desire to have the South welcomed to a share in Northern celebrations of the national holiday, will be satisfied at the substitute offered them, does not appear to have been considered by the able committee. The committee-man has at least been allowed to satisfy himself.

Mr. Chamberlain is a very good public speaker, but he will not adorn the time or the place. The orator is a Worcester county man, a lawyer of unusual ability and holding many friends in New England. But Mr. Chamberlain's record in South Carolina is what he is known by, first and last. He gained his national prominence as attorney-general and governor in the carpet-bag rule of that State, by all odds the most corrupt government that has been known in this country. That during his term as governor he showed the disposition of reform is well known, and he had credit for it, from the Republican as generously and encouragingly as from partisan Republicans. He professed to have been aware of the extravagance and rascality of Scott, Moses and others, and that he unavailingly opposed their iniquitous practices. But the revelations which followed the overturn of that government, the expositions of the land commission swindle, the ingenious sinking fund commission and the financial agency of his friend Kimpton, have seriously damaged that reputation which he had partially retrieved, and left him under the gravest suspicions of official dishonor, if not in the defensive in the matter of personal honesty. Doubtless there are those who have confidence in his probity, but he has not yet even made a good ex parte clearance from the charge made against him in South Carolina, some of which, we believe, are pending in the shape of indictments before criminal courts.

Jail Delivery in Lincolnton.

Charlotte Observer.

Monday morning, at Lincolnton, Sheriff Robinson went up stairs in the jail to give the five prisoners their breakfast. As he opened the door of the room in which the five were confined, having his pistol in his hand, one of them, a negro named Gilliam, seized him around the arms and waist. The attack was altogether unexpected, the sheriff having left the prisoners manacled the night before, but he made a manful resistance. In attempting to close the door behind him, he had it slammed to, and one of his hands badly lacerated, and at this juncture he was overpowered and the pistol wrested from his hands. Three shots were fired at him, but happily without effect, and four of the prisoners rushed down the stairs, and with a piece of iron burst a panel out of the door. Through this they escaped, while Sheriff Robinson engaged the hindmost prisoner and beat him back into the cell with the handle of a broom.

A crowd was raised and pursuit was given the fugitives. All started across the trestle over the South Fork, but one becoming frightened stopped on the trestle, and was retaken. Up to last accounts the others were still at large. All of the prisoners were colored. The one who wrested the pistol from the sheriff's hands was a notorious desperado named Johnston. It is supposed that they relieved themselves of their shackles during Sunday night, by means of a spoon handle which was found in the cell next day.

Senator Gordon's Sheep Ranch.

Nashville American.

Senator Gordon's ranch is at Ty-Ty Station, Ga. It comprises 40,000 acres of good land. The Senator's stalwart son, Hugh H. Gordon, is the manager of the ranch in his father's absence. He is an enthusiastic sheep farmer and is just starting with a stock of 1,700. The ranch is being inclosed with walls built by negro convicts, who, according to the Georgia system, are leased out under contract. Already seven miles of wall have been put up. Senator Gordon will make his 40,000 acres one vast sheep ranch.

What's the Matter.

Statesville Landmark.

Melvin Millern, the ring leader of the gang who burglarized the house of Mr. Nicholas Stikeleather, has been at large for the past month or six weeks and still no reward from the Governor has been offered for his apprehension. Though his confederates haves been tried and condemned to death, this criminal has been allowed to elude justice without a reward being offered for his arrest. We respectfully call Governer Jarvis' attentien to this matter.

Make Your Bread.

Chapel Hill Ledger.

In view of the fact that we have had to send to Raleigh for our corn and corn meal this month or two past, is it too much for us to urge upon our Orange farmers the necessity of planting more corn this season? It is really a disgrace to this section of country that we do not make our own bread. And the flour made in our mills is not what it ought to be. Our best housekeepers send abroad for flour. Such farming is suicidal in the long run, and we beg our friends to consider it.

Without a Job.

Atlanta Constitution.

After all, there were only six or eight thousand colored men made paupers by the exodus movement, and the movement is at an end. The various Republican "relief" committees are now without a job for the summer, and there is something ominous in the complexion of the future.

COX'S CONFESSION.

"WHATEVER YOU DO, DO NOT KILL ME."

How he Bandaged Her---No Idea that he was Exercising Violence to Cause her Death.

In describing the murder, Cox says when he was in the room of Mrs. Hull she awoke, and, recognizing the peril she was in, exclaimed: "Whatever you do, don't kill me." He then placed his left hand over her mouth, she struggling all the time to release herself. Finally she became quiet, he holding her firmly all the time, and, taking the sheet in his right hand, he tore it with his teeth into strips. He placed one end of the sheet over her mouth, and then proceeded to bind her as her body was afterward found. His object in tying her to the bed was because he feared that she might manage to roll off on the floor and thereby make a noise which would arouse the inmates of the house. He says he had no idea that he was exercising violence sufficient to cause death, or even that serious results would follow the affair. At this juncture he did not have the least idea that the woman was going to die. After tying her feet, he says he lighted a piece of candle he happened to have in his pocket. He returned to the kitchen, where he got possession of the watch, and subsequently found the rest of the jewelry in the bureau drawers and in the bed chamber, finding Mrs. Hull breathing hard he became frightened, and seizing the bottle of cologne poured its contents over her face. As she continued to breath hard he dashed a pitcher of water over her person. When he was searching for the jewelry he went through the trunk of his victim, and after pouring water over her hastily fled by the front door, which he left open after him. He says he did not outrage the poor woman, and, further, that such a thought never entered his mind.

On leaving the house he returned to his lodgings, on West Thirty-sixth street, and got home and into bed without any of the inmates knowing it. He never drank anything, so he knew what he was talking about. The first he knew of the murder, he says, was on the next day, when riding on an Eighth avenue car, the driver remarked: "What a terrible affair that was last night on Forty-second street. I see Mrs. Hull has been robbed and murdered." Cox says when he was told this the blood rushed up into his head, and he felt as if he was burning. After leaving the driver he went up to Forty-third street, and on passing opposite to Mrs. Hull's house, saw detective Schmittberger and other detectives. He said he did not dare look at Mrs Hull's house, and went to his lodgings. He started for Boston on the Thursday following the murder, reaching there Friday morning. He returned to New York to get the things at his boarding house on the following Monday, and, while on his way to his old lodging, passed the New York detectives again. They did not suspect him, and he went back to Boston safely on Friday last. The officers to-day recovered at the pawnshop of one Cohen, No. 17 Green street, a diamond ring stolen from the Hull mansion and pawned by Cox.

The remainder of the missing jewelry taken from Mrs. Hull was recovered from Belle Johnson, a mulatto girl, in a house of ill fame on Fifth avenue. In her possession were the topaz necklace, a pair of diamond ear rings and pawn tickets for other jewelry. She admitted that Cox gave her the things.

A Public Nuisance.

Pittsboro Record.

The mail schedule between this place and our railroad station, Moncure, is so inconvenient as to be a public nuisance, and should be changed. The distance from here to Moncure is only 9½ miles, and yet the time usually taken to bring our mail that distance is nearly five hours. The train for Raleigh passes at 6:25 a. m., and yet it is generally 11 o'clock, and sometimes later, before our mail arrives here. But, to those who have seen the miserable bag of bones (called a horse) that carries the mail, the only wonder is that it comes that quick! In contracts for carrying the mails the Government requires "celerity, certainty and security," but if there is any "celerity" in taking five hours to carry the mail 9½ miles, we can't see it. Our friend Gilliand sometimes arrives here with his mail from Simmon Grove, twenty miles distant, before the arrival of the mail from Moncure. The convenience of the public here would be best promoted if our mail left here at 6 p. m., and returned at 9 a. m. This schedule would make close connection with both trains. As it is, our mail for all points south of Moncure lies over here all night and again all next day at Moncure.

Though we are only 32 miles distant from Raleigh, yet the daily papers printed there are 32 hours, and twice a week 56 hours, in getting here. On Tuesdays we get the Sunday papers of Raleigh and New York at the same time! Frequently we read in the Wilmington Review extracts taken from the Raleigh dailies, which arrive here in the same mail. That is, a paper can go from Raleigh via Goldsboro to Wilmington, and remain there long enough to be read and have an extract printed from it in another paper, and then arrive here at the same time as if it had come direct from Raleigh. Now, have'nt we cause to complain?

Bob Yancey's Story.

A correspondent of the New York Sun believes Bob Yancey's story to be an entire fabrication. It would be altogether contrary to Daniel Webster's nobleness of nature to allow his son to be sold and kept in slavery, for he was known to contribute money and to use his most eloquent pleadings for the freedom of individual slaves. It is hardly reasonable to suppose that he would take the mother to Boston and give her freedom, yet let his own flesh and blood be sold into slavery. Fletcher Webster, Daniel Webster's son, was not a Captain, was not in Sherman's army, and was never in Atlanta. He was appointed by Governor Andrew, Colonel of the Twelfth Massachusetts Volunteers, and was killed at the second battle of Bull Run. Consequently he could not have been with Sherman's army.

Forgotten to Mourn.

Salt Lake Tribune.

The most godforsaken spot in Utah, so tourists tell us—for Mormon or Gentile never visit it—is Brigham Young's grave. The lot appears to be the receptacle of old trash, and the grave looks as though nineteen lorn widows had forgotten to mourn it to any alarming extent.

No Bouquets.

The high school commencement at Fort Wayne, Ind., was quite a lively affair. The school board had forbidden any presentation of floral tributes, but early in the proceedings the order was violated, a bouquet being handed to a graduate, who refused to surrender it to the President of the Board, Hon. A. P. Edgerton, amidst the wildest excitement, shouts, yells, and hisses. A squad of police appeared on the stage. The recipient of the bouquet relinquished it to one of the officers and left the stage, followed by eight members of the class, who refused to participate further in the proceedings. This added to the excitement, and for a few moments the hall was a perfect pandemonium. Mr. Edgerton, after repeated efforts, succeeded in making himself heard, and the exercises were allowed to proceed, although great excitement and confusion existed until the conclusion

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

Love's Ecstasy.

Since first the sunlight of thine eyes
Beamed lovingly on me,
I've missed the sunlight of the skies,
And know no sun but thee.
Since first thine accents soft and low
Made my sad heart rejoice,
I've heard no sounds to thrill me so—
No music like thy voice.

Since first thy sweet lips, pure and chaste,
In ecstasy met mine,
I've dreamed that man could never taste
A nectar so divine.
And when I caught thy balmy breath
In our first sweet embrace,
And other odors touched by death
To that perfume gave place.

There is no sky however bright,
No scene however fair,
That has for me the least delight,
Unless thy form is there.
Nor is there any sky so drear.
Nor any scene so vile,
But would be bright and pleasant, dear,
If lighted by thy smile,

There's naught to cheer me, naught to bless,
On land or swelling sea,
No pleasure anywhere, unless
'Tis sanctified by thee.
While I can press thee to my heart,
Thrice happy is my lot;
There is no Hades where thou art,
No Heaven where thou art not.

A man died in St. Louis recently, and in his will, after stating that he never forgot a favor, left $1,000 to an individual who ten years ago ran away with his wife.

The principal of Vassar College stepped suddenly into one of the recitation rooms and said: "That person who is chewing gum will please step forward and put it on the desk." The whole school stepped forward with one accord toward the desk, while the teacher slipped her quid beneath her tongue and said: "Leally, guls, I'm surpriseld!" —Oil City Derrick.

Talk of the bravery of the sterner sex! Do you remember the first time you asked her, "Will you take my arm?" While you trembled all over like the narrative of a stump-tail dog, and experienced the sensation of having swallowed your Adam's apple, what did she do? Why, she took your arm as coolly as she would eat a pickle.—Boston Transcript.

There is one poor boarding-house keeper who is going to be just perfectly miserable for the next week at least. She has a new set of servants, and green servants are such a vexation! They haven't the faintest idea of geometry, and it takes the average landlady at least a week's careful drilling to teach them how to arrange the tablecloth in such a scientific manner that the holes will be under the butter-dish, the castor and the coffee urn.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A New Pest.

The Valdosta (Ga.) Times says that a new-fangled worm has appeared on the farms in Lowndes county and is doing great damage to corn crops. It appears that when the corn is about tasseling out, this little green worm with a black head, bores into the stalk at the ground and eats out the pith, and the first slight wind breaks the corn down. Some of the farmers have already suffered a serious loss, and if the pest continues there is no telling of the amount of damage that will be done.

THE SEA SERPENT AGAIN.

WHAT THREE FISHERMEN SAW OFF ROCKAWAY YESTERDAY.

A Thrilling Adventure--The Unparalleled Coolness of Mr. Michael Ryan Under Trying Circumstances.

New York Star, 24th.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning, John McMahon, proprietor of a hotel at Sheepshead Bay, Captain William Van Nostrand, one of the best known fishermen on Long Island, and Mr. Michael Ryan of this city, sailed from Sheepshead Bay on a blue-fishing excursion to the waters off Rockaway. On arriving at the fishing grounds the party began to troll for blue-fish. At about 4:45 o'clock Mr. Ryan, who was sitting in the stern of the boat, noticed an immense agitation of the water a short distance to the left, and called the attention of the party to the occurrence. He had hardly finished speaking when the head of an enormous serpent appeared above the water. What followed is best describe by the three blue-fishers themselves. Mr. McMahon tells the following story.

"I had no weapon with me but a jack knive, but I drew this and determined to sell my life dearly. I saw plainly that if the lives of our little party were to be saved I was to be the humble instrument of deliverance to my comrades. Captain Van Nostrand had nothing but a 10 cent corkscrew, and Ryan's only weapon was a religious tract that had been handed to him just before we started for the Bay. Well, sir, it was a terrible sight. The beast or reptile seemed to be about 102 feet long, and its head was as big as a barrel. It rose out of the water over twenty feet, and then as quick as lightning darted clean through the sail of our boat and landed head first in the water on the other side. One of its scales dropped on the deck, and it was as hard almost as a stove lid, and of the same size. We sailed straight for home, and didn't see the thing again."

Captain Van Nostrand's story differs somewhat from Mr. McMahon's. The Captain's version is as follows:

"The moment I saw the water a tumbling I made up my mind it was caused by the sarpent I had seen once when I was a boy, forty years ago, off Rockaway. I wasn't the least bit frightened, and I drew a revolver, determined to kill the sarpent if possible. It had a head on it as big as an alderman, and its eyes were as large as saucers. Ryan and McMahon were as white as sheets, and each of them picked up a stone from the pile we were carrying as ballast. I took good aim at one of the sarpent's eyes and fired, making a center shot. But, Lawd bless me! the ball bounded—took no more effect on that eye than it would on a common ball; it simply bounced off. The critter gave a snort, and whisked its tail at our boat. I thought we were gone, sure, but the sarpent's tail missed the boat and just caught Ryan on the top of his hat, taking the hair off closer to the skin than a clipping machine—so close that you would think he is bald-headed. If that tail had struck an eighth of an inch lower the man would have lost the top of his skull. The sarpent disappeared after taking that one crack at us, and we didn't see him again. McMahon and I were thankful enough to escape, but Ryan kept growling all the way home about losing his hair. He said he wouldn't mind being bald-headed in winter, but it was a tough thing to stand in fly-time."

Mr. Ryan treated his adventure with apparent indifference. Said he: "The moment I saw the thing I knew what it was. The only concern I had was for McMahon. I knew he had the heart disease and I was alarmed, fearing that the sudden fright he got would kill him. To reassure Mac, I said: 'Don't be frightened, it's only a large-sized eel.' I'll never forget the look he gave me as he replied: 'Eel! It's the divil himself!' and with that he began to read like a madman a religious tract that the fish bait was wrapped up in. Just then the serpent lifted its head out of the water within a foot of where I was sitting. With that I hauls back and gave him a terrible clip between the two eyes with a stout blackthorn I always carry. The blow staggered him and he dove under the boat, but came up on the other side glaring at Mac like a tiger. Mac wore a fancy straw hat that was the color of a green watermelon. 'Overboard with that hat, its that which is provokin' the beast,' I yelled, and Mac pulled it off and scaled it over the water. The next thing we heard was a grating sound, the serpent had bitten one anchor off. Two minutes after it came up under Mac's hat, and a second later we saw it making for the open sea with the green tile on its head, and the anchor between its teeth. I wanted to pursue the serpent, but Mac and the Captain wouldn't listen to the proposition, and we sailed home."

A VOUDOU MAID.

Who Has Been Frightening a Whole Family by Her Vagaries.

New Orleans Democrat.

Mrs. Mathe, residing on Dumaine street, between Rampart and St. Claude, has a female enemy who wishes to annihilate her and her whole family, and she proposes to do it by Voudouism. This fact has been openly demonstrated by the vicious believers in the power, but so far she has not been successful. Her attempts have been often and varied, yet fruitless, except in so far as annoying Mrs. Mathe and her family.

Friday a week ago this wickedly inclined woman, whoever she may be, while Mrs. Mathe and her family were asleep, repaired to her residence and covered the steps leading from the street with oil, teeth of animals, horses' hair, herbs and fins of fishes.

As this amount of trash did not produce the desired result, the Voudou missionary repaired to the house Sunday night and applied another dose to the steps.

Mrs. Mathe, on arousing yesterday morning, discovered the work of the voudou woman. It consisted in the steps being first covered with a heavy coat of coal tar, which was dotted with large drops of candle grease. On the third step was placed a small coffin containing the figure of a baby, and around the coffin were placed several small candles. On the lid of the coffin rested two matches, crossed to represent cross-bones, which was in keeping with a little skull that was laid at the head of the coffin. To the right of the coffin was a cake of red soap in the shape of a heart, while two large animals' teeth were to the left.

When Mrs. Mathe discovered the things on her doorsteps, although she is not a believer in voudouism, she was terribly shocked, and nothing can persuade her to believe but that it is the forerunner of some terrible catastrophe that will happen either to herself or to some member of her household. Some gentlemen have interested themselves in the case, and are on the watch for this voudou mischief-maker.

North Carolina Agricultural Society.

The Executive Committee of the North Carolina Agricultural Society held a meeting at the Yarborough House last night. A. Creech, Esq., in the chair, and C. B. Denson, Secretary.

The Secretary made reports in regard to the progress of the work for the fair, and especially the intended exhibit by the tobacco producers and manufacturers, and reported various donations.

On motion, regulations were ordered to be embodied in the premium list that all manfacturered tobacco exhibited for premiums be required to be certified as the regular article prepared for ordinary trade under its established brand.

Also that the award of premiums shall be given only to tobacco which has been stamped, placed in blank wrappers and numbered, and adjudged without knowledge of the name of the manufacturer by the judges.

On motion, a gold medal was offered for the best fancy smoking tobacco, in addition to the medal for the best standard smoking tobacco.

The entire tobacco interest is cordially invited to take part in the anticipated great display of that important product of our State, and the various specimens of its manufacture.

A MISSIONARY AMONG THE NATIVE NIGGERS.

Can't Devote his Whole Life to one Emotion---The Heathens' Change of Base---A Big Lift.

San Francisco Argonaut.

My Uncle Ned which has been in Irjy and evrywhere, he says one time there wos a feller which was alickn his whife, and evry time he hit her there was a dog, and it hollered, the dog did, like a looky motif. Then the feller he sed to his wife: "Can't you do yure own hollerin?"

Then he thought a wile, and then he went in his house and brot out a other white, and licked thatn too, and wotched the dog, and the dog it howld agin. Then the feller he sed: "Whose whife is this I'd like to know, mine or yourn?"

Then he got a other whife, and licked her, and it was the same way. Then he thot a wile agin, and then he was a goin for a other, but the dog it shuke its head and walked away, much as to say: "A feller can't devote his hole life to one emotion and forego the chase; the jackus rabbit is forth, and duty beckns me a way. May be the other ladys can seure the serfices of a fresh dog."

Master Jonnice, which has got the wuden leg he says a sientifficle man was a lickn his wife, and evry time she was hit there was a ecko, wich sounded jest like a other man a lickn him, and the sientifficle man he was dlited. Bime by he stoppt and sed: "There is something singuler bout this ecko; it seems to repeat the hard licks in a other knee from the mild ones. Most xtroddinary thing I ever herd. My deer, we must xperriment further."

SOME NATIF NIGGERS IN AFRICY

thay had a big wuden idle wich thay worshipt, cos thay sed it was a god, and one day thay shet up a pig in a pen wich was bilt a round the idle, cos thay sed: "To morro we will sacfice that pig and make a burnt offer to our god."

But nex monin wen the preests went to kil the pig there was a mitionary preecher, and the preecher he laft like he wud bust, and he sed: "I got you now, you galoots, jest look wot kind of a god you got wich pmits such libbertys as that, cos he can't hellup hisef."

So thay looked, and there thay seen the pig a scratchn hisself aginst the idle and gruntn like it was mitty nice.

Jest then the pig it stop scratchn and went to rootin with the snoot of his nose, and bime bi it got under the idle and up set in a minnit in the mud. Then the mitionary preecher he danced, and slapt his leg, and hollered wild, and sed, "Wot a powrle feller yure god is, to be shure, set him up agin, hooray!"

Then the high preest was the furiousest feller you ever saw, and he jumped in the pen, and kicked the idle hard as ever he cude, and bust all its hed with his tommyhock, and all natif niggers they sed, "Wot a golly be dumb busted ole frod that idle was, jest like the mitionary preecher sed."

Then the preecher went rite of and held a thanks given preech, and rote to his bishop the joyfle news about the natif neggerses change of hart. But wen he cum back with a bole of wotter for to baptize em thay was all down onto their kanees a worshippin the pig.

Pigs tails roasted is splendider than eny thing, but a Sunday scoohl book is the feller for me.

A PIONEER'S BIG LIFT.

Virginia Chronicle.

An old pioneer was hugging the historic stove in Judge Knox's court room last evening, and as is usual with the old-timers who visit that temple of justice, was in a reminiscent frame of mind. Though poor now, he had, as a matter of course, been once rich.

"I was a leadin' citizen of Muckallamy Hill in '52," he said. "In them days I was in the dust-buyin' business. I had my sign out—S. Compra Ora Aqui—upstairs, you know, and all that sort of thing. I tell ye, it takes a smart man to get along in that 'ere trade. Jenkins & Co. was the boss at it when I first went into it at Muckallamy Hill, but it wasn't six months afore I'd took half their trade away. I had to rustle to do it, You see the boys was allus anxious to do well an' the first that offered the coin made the riffle. Jenkins & Co. was pretty high-toned, an' used to wait every night for thar man to go down the hill to the express office an' bring up their money in a handcart. I saw my chance an' used to be on hand when the stage came in, an' jist shouldered my own coin when the driver throwed it off. Nick Monkins was the driver in them days. He was afterwards killed by road agents. Many's the time Nick's throwed me down my sack with a clean $400,000 in gold coin in it, an' I've chucked her across my shoulder an' trotted up that there old hill and had every bit o' dust brought up afore Jenkins & Co.'s handcart arrived."

"How much did you say you packed up the hill on your shoulder?" asked Judge Knox's clerk.

"Four hundred thousand oftener than less," replied the pioneer with melancholy pride.

"See here," said the clerk, figuring rapidly, "gold's worth $18 an ounce, and there's twelve ounces to the pound worth $216. Now, 216 into 400,000 leaves something over 1,851 pounds—pretty nearly a ton. How far up the hill did you carry that did you say?"

The old pioneer looked at the clerk with fixed contempt for a moment, and then merely saying: "You're a plagued Johnny-Come-Lately, that's what you are!" arose and left the court-room.

Observance of the Neutrality Laws.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued the following circular to collectors of customs and to whom it may concern: This department has received information that the government of Bolivia has decreed the issue of letters of marque, with authority to privateers to seize Chilian property in neutral vessels, and that agents have departed for the United States. Collectors of customs, in whose ports attempts may be made to fit out warlike expeditions in aid of either of the belligerent powers, will take care to see that section 5290 of the Revised Statutes be vigilantly enforced against all vessels that appear to be destined to violate the neutrality laws of the United States

Supreme Court.

Court met at 10 o'clock on yesterday; all the justices present.

The consideration of cases from the Fourth Judicial District was resumed and appeals were disposed of as follows:

Edward Kinney vs. Thomas C. McIlhenney, from Brunswick; called and argued by A. T. and John London for the plaintiff, and E. G. Haywood and A. W. Tourgee for the defendant.

Pending argument in the above cause, the court adjourned until this (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock.

At the conclusion of the above case this morning, the court will hear on argument the question as to the validity of taxing attorney's fees at causes decided at January Term last.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

FRIDAY, - - - - JUNE 27, 1879.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

Just now "the finest police force in the world" is arrogating to itself great credit for the arrest of Cox, the murderer of Mrs. Hull, when really the credit of his arrest belongs to Mr. Balch, a Boston Herald reporter. The New York police were working on certain suspicions which were far wide of the mark, and when thoroughly sifted very weak at that. Circumstantial evidence, as it is termed, was no evidence in this case. Says the Philadelphia Record. Its unreliability and the terrible mistakes which the ordinary run of detectives are liable to make were never more clearly shown than in this case. Plausible theories of the police, shrewd guesses by self-constituted investigators and deductions from premises which the wisest were willing to acknowledge were correct have all been swept away. The murderer proves to have been a very ordinary piece of work by a very ordinary man. It was demonstrated beyond question that the offender must have entered by the front-doors; Cox declares that he came in by a window. Experts decided that only a medical man or some one thoroughly conversant with their methods could have tied the knots found on the body; the culprit was as ignorant of surgery as he is wanting in ordinary caution. The effect of light on the eyes as proving death could only have been known by an expert; the singed eyebrows proved that there had been such a test, therefore no common thief held the candle! But the murderer says the cologne accidentally caught fire and burnt the victim's brow. The unbolting of more doors than was necessary to let the assassin pass out and in was proof positive to many minds that the real criminal belonged in the house, and that the effort to direct suspicion outside had been overdone.

And so, step by step, the conclusions of the authorities might be taken up and shown to be utterly wrong. The murderer carried his own candle; he deliberately tied his victim; he took some valuables and left others equally easy to find; he came as he pleased and left at his leisure; what he did was on the impulse of the moment; occurrences which were thought to show careful planning and unusual intelligence and skill are now known to have been accidents or the result of circumstances. In looking over the entire case as the police regarded it, in but one instance do we find their conclusions correct—much of the binding really did take place after the victim was dead, but Cox was not then aware that he had committed murder. But for the quick wit of a newspaper man it is probable that the culprit would have escaped. Had the murderer shown any shrewdness he would never have been suspected, and it is quite possible that an innocent man might have been made to suffer for another's crime.

THE true statesman and the really influential editor are those who are able to control and guide parties, not those who waste their strength in merely thrusting aside and breaking up the only tools with which their work can be done.—Whitelaw Reid.

One of the most efficient tools that Mr. Whitelaw Reid used in Mr. Jay Gould's Tribune prior to the last two years was the systematic shaking of the "bloody shirt." He has used that tool since till it has been ground away so that it is worthless. It is also reasonable to suppose that an able editor would study the signs of the times and speak for the benefit of the people instead of a clique; but when the question of remonetization of silver came up Mr. Whitelaw Reid remained the champion of the gold-brokers and bond-holders and made the Tribune ridiculous for its stupid prophecies of the ruin to be wrought by this measure. He strove to infuse the Republican party leaders with his idea, but their indorsement was merely local, and that for the time being; while a staunch Republican paper, the New York Mail, disproved every one of the Tribune's assertions and left its financial theory dangling on the fence. So it would appear that this would-be "really influential editor" has but recently discovered the above cited axiom.

MRS. LYDIA MARIA CHILD, the authoress and anti-slavery agitator, is now seventy-seven years old, and lives at her old home in Wayland, Massachusetts. In the course of a recent conversation with a writer of the Boston Herald she spoke of Garrison as a firm believer in Spiritualism, and added:

Whittier admits that there is something very mysterious and unexplained in it. He told that there was an old Quaker whom he saw when he was a lad, who was renowned for his prophecies. He very often spoke under the influence of the spirit. Whittier sent me a copy of the prophecy made by the old man in 1803. It began by foretelling a great split in the Church, which would commence with the Presbyterians, and it would include the Friends. We have since seen the Presbyterians divide, and the Hicksite trouble among the Quakers. Then the old prophet said he saw a great trouble about the slavery question, which would end in a war and emancipation. He foresaw finally a grand gathering of the churches into an established Church, and ruled by it. And he saw the Society of Friends paying tribute to the Church. And he saw also a military despotism of the country, though this would only be for a while. Now this was a remarkable prophecy, and all but the last two statements have been fulfilled.

AN enterprising Ohio firm is inviting some of the leading papers of the country to send "your most capable correspondent" to its place of business to contend in a sort of puff-writing match. The articles describing the works, business, etc., are to be published in the papers sending correspondents either late in June or early in July, and a prize of $800 will then be awarded, by a committee composed of three Ohio men, to the article which shows both general excellence and the greatest special excellence as an advertisement. The publishers of the articles which do not obtain the premium are to make no charge whatever for them. This last condition is likely to reduce competition to a minimum. The idea suggests itself too, that a firm which can devise so ingenious a scheme of advertising itself does not need to search among capable correspondents for some one to write its puffs, and would doubtless carry off the prize itself if it should conclude to enter into competition.

A PORTUGESE discoverer has lately turned up in Port Durban, Natal, who has a made a journey through the center of southern Africa, leaving the colony of Portugal at Benguela, just south of the mouth of the Congo river, and traveling in a southeastwardly direction. The work performed by him is a valuable supplement to that of Stanley; and though less exacting in its demands upon the discoverer than the service performed by the American explorer, will probably be of greater practical worth to the present generation, as a considerable portion of the land passed over is only just inside the tropics, and can easily be made useful for commercial purposes. The name of the explorer is Maj. de Serpa-Pinto, and his task was undertaken at the request of the Portugese government.

THE Asheville Regulator is opposed to the nomination of Mr. Tilden on account of some alleged swindling dealings with his miners, the allegations being contained in an article in the New York Star, which was marked with a blue pencil and most industriously circulated throughout the South. The Regulator should remember that the bare assertion of the Star is not proof positive, and that Mr. Joseph Howard, the presumptive editor of that paper, once issued a bogus proclamation purporting to have emanated from the late President Lincoln, for which display of journalistic enterprise he located his home in Fort Lafayette for a season. And another thing it is not wise at this time to pronounce irrevocably against this or that possible nominee.

AT a meeting of the citizens' committee of 300, who have organized for the purpose of considering the subject of a world's fair in New York in 1883, held Monday evening, a resolution was adopted changing the name from the citizens' committee to the world's fair committee. Another resolution was adopted calling for a committee of ten to prepare an address giving in detail all information regarding the proposed world's fair. It is said that the address is to be printed and distributed in every State and city in the Union. Thurlow Weed and Rufus Hatch took part in the meeting.

The last statement certainly has not as yet been fulfilled, but the most strenuous efforts have been made to accomplish it. A large standing army is wanted; troops at the polls are needed; the ballot-boxes must be virtually in the hands of a pack of mercenaries—all these things are demanded by Messrs. Sherman, Chandler, Conkling, Blaine and the adherents of General Grant—Mr. Hayes is too weak to have a solid opinion on the subject—and when obtained the military despotism will be a fixed fact.

EX-GOVERNOR CURTIN, of Pennsylvania, expresses the opinion that the Democratic presidential nomination will be secured by either Bayard, Tilden or Thurman, while his opinion is that either Grant or Sherman will be the choice of the Republicans.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal extends its tenderest sympathies to the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Inter-Ocean, hoping those Illinois rifle clubs may be brought to a sincere repentance.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. Conkling explains the approval of the army bill to his stalwart associates quite lucidly. He is sure that "Mr. Hayes" was opposed to it, while "the President" felt constrained by his peculiar policy to sign it. Mr. Conkling never forgets the distinction between "Mr. Hayes" and "the President."—Washington Post.

It cost Zach Chandler and Tyner only five thousand dollars to buy up the Greenback candidate for governor in Indiana in 1876, but they didn't go around soliciting the money in small driblets as Hubbell does. The whole thing was made "certain" and "easy" by the sale of "one Indian agency."—Washington Post.

There ought to be a law to prevent Congressmen from engaging in miscellaneous business operations during their term of office. Here is Congressman Frye acting as general agent for the Okolona States, and Congressman Hubbell soliciting club subscriptions for the National View.

According to Mr. Hayes, there are various kinds of approvals. It was his "affirmative approval" that he declined to give to the judicial bill. We suspect it was a negative approval that was given the army bill—an official affirmation despite personal detestation.

Watterson pleads with the Ohio Democrats to sink their financial differences and fight the coming State campaign for the obliteration of sectionalism from politics and "on constitutional issues." Otherwise he sees that the rock finances will sink the party ship.

After a delay, due largely to the efforts of Senator Ingall's friends, and by no means to his credit, the serious charges against him are to be investigated before Congress meets next December by a Senate committee sitting during the recess.

The Ohio Democracy will have to fight the campaign this fall with no help from the Warner silver bill, and the Republicans fight the campaign without condemning the bill.

P. C. Hayes, of Illinois, is credited by the Congressional Record with meeting Mr. McLane's attack on General Grant with the prediction that he would be the next president.

The Concord (N. H.) People and Patriot, leading Democrat newspaper of the State, wants Tilden.

John Sherman is going to speak for the Maine Republicans during the coming canvass.

The Butler Democrats.

Boston Herald.

Representative men of the Butler wing of the Democratic party state it to be a fact that General Butler will receive and accept a nomination for Governor, both from a Labor Reform and a Democratic convention, this fall. They say that reports have been received from the largest towns in every county in the State during the last week, and that, with but a single exception, these reports were in favor of the nomination of the general. They say that their convention will be held at Worcester in September, but that a gubernatorial nomination of the general will be made previously by either a Labor Reform or Greenback organization.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester.

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

Weston's Record.

Weston's previous record as a pedestrian covers more contests than that of any living pedestrian. He is the father of long-distance pedestrianism and was the first man to accomplish 100 miles in 22 hours, which he did 11 years ago, and which was at that time considered a wonderful feat. In 1867 he undertook to walk from Portland, Maine, to Chicago, Illinois, in 26 days, but failed in the attempt, occupying 28 days on his journey. In 1876 he walked for six days in Liverpool and scored 500½ miles, a performance considered unapproachable until, one month later, it was beaten by two miles by Daniel O'Leary. In Agricultural hall, London, in a six days' walk, beginning April 2, 1877, Weston made 510 miles by square heel and toe work, and this, previous to the present contest, was his most noteworthy record.

A Tolerably Tough Tale.

A writer in the London Nature gravely relates the toughest dog story we ever heard. The home of this intellectual canine prodigy is, of course, in California:

"Priest's" is a hotel on the way from Calaveras Grove of Big Trees in the Yosemite. In former years on the arrival of the stage, the landlady would send the dog to the poultry yard to catch chickens for the tourist's dinner. Now, the dog "takes time by the forelock." The stage is due at 6 o'clock. About 5 o'clock the dog saunters leisurely down the road till he meets the stage, he then bounds back to the poultry-yard, catches chickens, bites their heads off, and takes them to the cook! The number of chickens he kills bears a relation to the number of passengers he saw in the stage.

Not Much of a Victory.

Boston Herald.

After the President's message had been read to the House of Representatives, Mr. Keifer, of Ohio, tried to raise some applause on the Republican side, but Mr. Garfield vigorously waved his hand in a way to discourage all manifestations of applause, and prevented any outbreak on either side. Mr. McMahon, who had charge of the judicial expense bill, at once moved to pass the bill over the veto, and the roll of members was called. The bill, of course, failed to receive the two-thirds, and was declared to be lost.

When He is Worthy.

Fighting Joe Hooker to the Dayton (O. Veterans.

In the war between France and England, in Napoleon's time, a cavalry officer sallied out from his troop, having discovered an English officer separated from his command, to give him a single combat. But after riding rapidly up to him, he saw that he had lost an arm in the battle, and he says: "It is true your country and my country are at war, but the unfortunate belong to no country!" After an enemy surrenders he is no enemy of mine. He is a friend of mine, and particularly when he has honored every field that he has fought upon—when he is worthy to be your and my antagonist.

A writer on style says: "It is the fashion in France for ladies to take their tea in bonnets and gloves." It may be, but we prefer a tea-cup. Gloves makes tea taste bad, and bonnets drip so.—Hartford Post.

Medical.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

THE BUFFALO LITHIA WATERS

I have found it the best remedy I ever used in Chronic Alcoholism, when the stomach is always irritable and food required to nourish. Sold by all Leading Druggists.

——There's a wonderful charm in that little word "yes,"
When pronounced by some roseate fair,
And it nils you with ecstasy double-distilled,
From the soles of your boots to your hair—
Unless 'tis pronounced to your former request
(Ah, then how your whole being quails)
To take one more saucer of berries and cream,
When, to back you, your exchequer fails.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Capitol gates should open either way.

——Revenue receipts yesterday, $3,626.40.

——Mayor Manly was happy yesterday morning. No applicants for justice.

——The new fire cisterns will probably be filled with dust before finished and covered.

——A new trimming material is the Turkey satin, which is almost lusterless but very handsome.

——Old bonds to the amount of $474,000 were exchanged for new bonds at the Treasury yesterday.

The Governor refuses to respite John Davis, of Brunswick county; he will therefore hang on July 11th.

——Some of the new sashes are finished with hand-painted ends instead of embroidered ends, as formerly.

——Mr. D. T. Johnson has a consignment of twenty sacks new North Carolina flour, which is the first on the market.

——Mr. F. B. Hill received a shock yesterday the nature of a sunstroke; he fell and slightly cut his head. Nothing serious apprehended.

——It is stated that Pinafore will be improved in the rendition this evening, the practice of the last two weeks having told with good effect.

——D. T. Johnson invites the attention of the trade to his new advertisement. He is prepared to deal with his patrons on the best possible terms.

——Messrs. Yeargan, Petty & Jones, in a brand-new advertisement, announce considerable reduction in prices of some of their goods, notably in dress goods.

——Specimen copies of "St. Mary's Muse" for June may be had gratis at William's bookstore, where subscriptions for the year (fifty cents) also will be received.

——The gates to the Capitol grounds have been arranged to swing outward only, and now those near by think a boiler shop has been set up in the neighborhood.

——Justice Barbee had only two criminal cases before him yesterday: Edward Bizell, peace warrant, and ordered the arrest of a party in this city for alleged forgery.

——All mail matter going to Canada from this or any other office in the United States, must, in all cases, be fully prepaid, and all third-class matter must also be prepaid.

——The music at the Presbyterian picnic was furnished by the Raleigh Independent Band, and not by the Silver Cornet Band. The committee on music were Messrs. John Sherwood and Ed. Heartt.

——The jovial Nicholas West is studying out a scheme for regulating the course of the sun. He wants to skew it around so that it will not strike a certain window in the afternoon. Success attend him.

——A word of advice to Josephine:

"Refrain, audacious star,
Your suit from pressing."

No, you needn't either; the people want to see you again.

——Clark's Mile End spool cotton is the oldest in the market and has the largest sale in the North and West. Messrs. Yeargan, Petty & Jones have taken the general agency and are making a fine success of it.

——A farmer went into Morris' to buy a parlor set of furniture. The same was shown him. Said he to Mr. W. H. Morris, "That'll do as far as it goes, but whar's the bed?" Mr. Morris abandoned the case forthwith.

——Green corn in the market yesterday, twenty to thirty cents a dozen; pears ten cents a quart; peaches ten cents a dozen; apples five and ten cents a dozen, thirty-five cents a peck; eggs twelve and one-half to fifteen cents a dozen.

——The grand jury were passing the Government building late last afternoon, in a body, when some acquaintance inquired if they were "hung', on a case. Before they could venture a reply, an old darkey who had doubtless had some experience with similar bodies replied for them—"I golly boss, dey ain't yit, sah, but fore de Lord dey ort ter be now sho. Yis sah, dey ort tu be hung wid neetnis an dispatch sah, jes as high as dat ar hay man wuz."

——Over the green, green lea,
Comes Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.,
Wherever he may go
Stamp, stamp the audience's brogans go!
Shout, shout as loud as you can bawl
For the gallant Sir Joseph at Tucker Hall, and so will his sisters and his cousins and his aunts, for the perfect carrying out of the character will deserve applause.

Personal.

We are pleased to welcome to his old home the Rev. Dr. Marshall, who is now on a short visit to his relatives, here. This gentleman, one of our Pittsboro' boys, is now the beloved Rector of the Episcopal Church at Raleigh, and one of the most eloquent pupil orators in the South.—Pittsboro Record.

The Swannanoa Hotel.

This fine hotel at Asheville was opened on the first day of June and will remain open until December 1st. Large, well ventilated rooms, well-aired linen, attentive servants, neatness, good table and good cooking a specialty. Persons leaving on the five o'clock stage get as good breakfast as is given at nine o'clock. W. M. Nichols is the manager.

A Suggestion.

If you want to really enjoy Pinafore to-night, and to get all the fun which the opera contains, be sure to carry a libretto to the Hall with you. Alfred Williams & Co., have the libretto for sale. Price 10 cents per copy.

The Valley Campaign.

Major Hotchkiss will deliver his most delightful lecture on the great Valley Campaign of Stonewall Jackson, at the Normal School of the University, on Friday at 8 p. m. He has promised to deliver it five times in Mississippi, once a week for the next five weeks. Mississippi has many of Major Hotchkiss' old companions who will doubtless enjoy his reminiscences greatly.

Bond Burning No 2.

Dr. Worth had another benefit day yesterday. There were $474,000 worth of old bonds presented at the Treasury for funding, and the Doctor and Mr. Baine are so enthusiastic on the subject of bonds that they at once became oblivious to everything else, and from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. they did not sit down; their time being occupied entirely in recording the entries necessary to complete the exchange. The work was even then too much for them and Mr. R. W. Best was called in to assist. At last the work was done and the State Board assembled to embark in another enterprise of bond burning, which consumed much more bonds than it did time. Dr. Worth dancing the Indian war dance in the meantime. It was a great day for the Treasurer.

Picnic Hints.

As picnics are about ripe and ready for picking the following hints from the New Haven Register may not come amiss: "It is of the highest importance that your mother-in-law should be invited. As a commander-in-chief she will be indispensable * * * Also ask your mother. Somebody must be on hand to wash the dishes * * * A picnic without lemonade would be just no picnic at all. So you tip over the wash-tub and mop out the dust, and concoct a beverage that has all the deliciousness of the lemon, combined with the flavor of onions that were brought to the ground in that self-same tub. * * * An ominous rumble of thunder, and a hurry and scurry of tumbling crockery-ware back into the wagon, and a race with the coming shower, in which the shower wins by a great many laps, winds up a day of rare pleasure, or a day in which pleasure has been rare, just as you are of a mind to call it."

A Falsehood.

Some unprincipled person or persons report that we are going out of the shoe and change into the house furnishing business, as per our five cent counter. The present age is very fastidious and exacting in its demand on hotels. Among these the New York houses of public entertainment stand unrivaled, and the "St. Nicholas" is pronounced by its patrons to be chief of the latter in excellence. Cuisiniere, furnishing devotion to the interest of the guest, are all beyond cavil. The "St. Nicholas" proundly maintains the traditions of a quarter of a century in its adaptation to the most cultivated and refined wants of the traveling public.

A Time Contract for 25 Years.

The chance of receiving $30,000 for two dollars by an investment in the Louisiana State Lottery at New Orleans, will continue for the next fifteen years, as the charter of the company runs on until 1895, and its vested rights cannot be invaded by an act of legislation or other proceedings, as long as the management is honestly conducted, and the worst enemy it has instigated by malice has never raised a suspicion of the strict integrity which characterizes its business affairs. For further information, address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.

Right Time to Operate in Stock.

By recent communication with prominent stock operators, we learn that now is a favorable time to take advantage of the stock market, by the new combination method of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., the New York bankers, who have been so remarkably successful heretofore. This system is founded on correct rules of finance and is universally approved by the shrewdest operators. The orders of thousands of customers are massed into one immense capital, and operated as a great whole, dividing profits pro rata every month. In this way any customer can invest from $10 to $10,000 with equal proportionate success, and at the same time gain all the advantages of largest capital and best skill in manipulating the market. This firm's new circular has "two unerring rules for success" and full explanations. $50 will make $250, or 5 per cent.; $500 will return $3,000, and so on, according to the market. Haunted Me.

Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor. I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost.—A Workingman.

Would an Irredeemable Currency be as good as gold? While there is a very large class of intelligent citizens who believe it would, we regard it our duty to all alike to say that as a cure for old sores, cuts, bruises, jams and slashes, there is nothing like Carbolic Salve. Beware of counterfeits.

We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The Parents.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879.—The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

For sale by Wm. Simpson, Pescud, Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh, N. C., and Druggists generally.

False Impression.

It is generally supposed by physicians and the people generally that Dyspepsia cannot invariable be cured, but we are pleased to say that Green's August Flower has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms, such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, &c. Out of the 50,000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from Druggists of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample battles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, Free of Charge. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman. Station D., New York City.
